ABSTRACT

Compiled for use by agencies working with migrant and seasonal farmworkers, this directory lists programs and services available to these farmworkers during their stay in Ohio and Wisconsin. Data were obtained from Federal, State, and local agencies in each State. Special emphasis was placed on information and data current as of summer 1973. Information given for each county in the State pertains to: (1) programs, (2) agencies which may assist migrants, (3) crops and work periods, (4) migrant population and wages, and (5) labor camps. Programs listed provide educational, health, legal, and job placement services to migrant workers. Some of the listings of organizations, programs, or agencies may contain some obsolete information due to their: instability; being subject to change as new needs, priorities, and objectives appear; or as operating funds expire. A synopsis of Ohio and Federal laws relevant to migrant and seasonal farmworkers is included. An annotated bibliography of National Migrant Information Clearinghouse publications is appended. (NQ)

Dear Sir(s):

This directory of programs and services available to migrant and seasonal farmworkers in Ohio and Wisconsin is the fifth in the Comprehensive National Survey of Migrant Programs series. The home-base states of Texas, California and Florida have already been published in addition to Michigan.

These directories are compiled for use by agencies working with migrant and seasonal farmworkers. It is our objective that in the utilization of this directory, the awareness of programmatic needs and services of the farmworker will be increased.

Our goal has been and continues to be the creation of a greater sense of community among agencies seeking to serve the migrant and seasonal farmworker.

Sincerely,

INTRODUCTION

Although Wisconsin continues to lead the Nation in the production of processed vegetables, the need for migrant labor in the State has been diminishing steadily for the past several years. In all probability, the extremely tight labor market has resulted from the combined effects of adverse weather, increased mechanization and reduced acreages in certain labor-intensive crops. Whatever the reasons, the Wisconsin State Employment Service estimates that the total number of interstate workers employed in rural industry establishments during the peak month of August 1972 was 4,385 compared to 4,628 in August 1971; 7,153 in August 1970; 9,444 in August 1969 and 9,262 in August 1968. Between 1969 and 1972, these figures represent annual changes of -24.25%, -35.3% and -5.25% respectively.

In its 1972 Annual Farm Labor Report, the Wisconsin State Employment Service summarized the migrant labor situation for that year:

Approximately 3,400 out of state workers were employed in the Food Processing Industry in Wisconsin. This figure is based on reports secured by employers during the season. The majority of workers were singles with a noticeable reduction in family groups.

Approximately 5,650 workers were in Wisconsin during the 1972 season. We had approximately 1,166 non-workers in family units.

The majority of the workers registered by the WSES have Texas as their state of origin. Florida was the next most frequently mentioned home state for workers registered by the WSES. Illinois, Indiana, Colorado, New Mexico, and Mexico were also identified as home areas for workers in this labor force.

As for the last state of employment, the majority of the field workers came directly from Texas with North Dakota, Minnesota and Montana ranking high in the state of previous employment. Upon completion of employment in Wisconsin, most families and groups returned directly to Texas. Those workers that accepted other agricultural employment following completion of the Wisconsin crop activity went to eleven different states with Florida, Ohio and North Dakota attracting the greatest portion of the workers.

The living and working conditions of migrant farmworkers in Wisconsin have grown to be a subject of paramount concern in recent years. This concern was dramatized on August 16, 1971 when a group representing migrant farmworkers began a march from Milwaukee to the State Capitol at Madison. In effect, the migrants challenged the effectiveness of the State of Wisconsin to enforce its own farm labor legislation. Among other things, they demanded a more vigorous enforcement of state laws setting minimum wages and working conditions for migrant farm laborers.

More recently, migrants forcibly took over a meeting of the Governor's Committee on Migratory Labor on August 7, 1972. They demanded representation on the Committee and issued a list of demands for the Governor to comply with. The Milwaukee Sentinel reported the following day that these demands included:

.(Governor) Lucey should immediately order the closing of all uncertified migrant worker camps operating illegally in Wisconsin.

.The State Department of Industry, Labor and Human Relations, as administrator of the migrant labor housing code, should be responsible for the care of workers displaced by the closing of uncertified camps.

.(Governor) Lucey should sponsor legislation to impose penalties on camp owners who operate uncertified camps. Any fines collected should be used to help displaced workers.

.(Governor) Lucey should establish an independent agency to recruit migrant laborers, because the Latins claim that the Wisconsin State Employment Service is biased in favor of the growers.

.(Governor) Lucey should immediately visit uncertified camps occupied by migrant workers.

The purpose of this book is to consolidate under one cover a listing of all services and resources available to migrant farmworkers during their stay in Wisconsin. The staff of the National Migrant Information Clearinghouse have endeavored to make this directory as complete and as accurate as possible. However, some of the listings of organizations, programs or agencies may contain some obsolete information after the printing date. Although many programs have the stability of long term and established services, others are often short lived or constantly subject to change as new needs, priorities and objectives appear, or as operating funds expire.

The information for this directory was obtained entirely from Federal, State and local agencies in Wisconsin prior to September 15, 1973. Only programs actually in existence at that time have been included, but due to the lag time between gathering information and then publishing it, an effort was made to keep astride all farm labor developments in Wisconsin during this time. Special emphasis was placed in obtaining only information and data current as of summer 1973. There are several reasons why this was not always possible. Many organizations, particularly state agencies, do not normally summarize their service activities until the end of each calendar year. Still others provided less than full cooperation to Clearinghouse staff. As a result, some of the information had to be obtained from secondary sources.

"Migrant Programs in Wisconsin" is therefore only as accurate as the information which was provided by the sources contacted. A sincere effort has been made to authenticate as much of the information that appears on this book as possible. However, the limited time and resources available for this project virtually rendered impossible the verification of every item of information.

This is one of the eleven locations where United Migrant Opportunity Services, Inc. has stationed staff members for its Family Planning Program. Although family planning staff are hired for full time work, they may not always be available at the office due to the amount of outreach work that is normally involved.

Family planning staff provide services to migrant families by informing them of regularly scheduled family planning clinics in their area, by one to one health education and counseling encounters and by referrals to physicians' offices or health facilities which have contracted with UMOS to provide family planning services. Among the services provided by the program are physical examinations, pre-natal and post natal medical care, counseling, health education, referrals and group family planning sessions.

This Center is one in a network of three headstart and day care centers operated by the Texas Migrant Council in Wisconsin. Migrant children between the ages of 0 and 6 years are eligible for enrollment.

A comprehensive pre-school educational program is offered. This includes auditory, visual, concept and language lessons which introduce cognitive and perceptual skills. Transportation, meals, supervised care and recreation are among the ancillary services provided. Additionally, a complete system of medical and health care has been introduced. This includes physical examinations, immunizations, health education, sight and hearing screening and skin tests.

The Cambria Center operates annually for a period of approximately 50 days between September 4 and October 22. The hours of operation are 7:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Title I Migrant Education Columbia County

Funding Sources: U.S.D.H.E.W.
Service Area: Columbia County
Migrant Population Served: 98 (1973)

The Migrant Education Program provides for migrant children a comprehensive system of basic educational activities and ancillary services. The development of language skills using a bilingual approach is particularly emphasized. Migrant children are also helped to develop physically, socially and academically. Instruction in various academic subjects is available. Insofar as possible, students are allowed to pursue activities which indicate abilities, initiate responsibilities and give direction to vocational interests or professional aspirations.

Among the supportive services offered by the Program are transportation, meals and medical care. Health related services include physical examinations, dental and medical treatment, hearing and vision screening and health education.

In 1973, two school districts operated Title I Migrant Programs in Columbia County. Their migrant enrollments and the duration of their programs are given below:

The Wisconsin Board of Vocational, Technical and Adult Education is one of the participating agencies in the National Migrant Worker Program. This state agency works cooperatively with United Migrant Opportunity Services, Inc. and the Wisconsin State Employment Service in fulfilling the objectives of the Program.

Since it is the agency which possesses pre-vocational and vocational training expertise, the Board is responsible for designing and implementing all training programs for migrant farmworkers. This is accomplished through the Board's Vocational, Technical and Adult Education (VTAE) districts. There are 16 VTAE Districts in Wisconsin, each having a number of full-time campuses as well as Adult and Outreach Centers; however, only four of these are participating directly in the National Migrant Worker Program:

Waushara Counties.

Migrant Population Served: Approximately 1,700 (1973)

The Wisconsin Migrant Education Program assists public schools in developing and implementing educational programs for migrant children. Such programs are designed to meet the special needs of migrant children and include a comprehensive system of basic instructional activities and ancillary services.

The level of administration at which individual programs are operated is either the school district or the Cooperative Educational Service Agency (CESA). There are 19 CESA's in Wisconsin, each encompassing several school districts usually in more than one county. A CESA is an educational agency which is affiliated with the Wisconsin Department of Public Instruction and which renders a variety of educational services to the school districts within its area upon request. Such services may include staff training, educational materials, consultation, etc.

Wisconsin's plan for migrant education places major emphasis in the development of communication skills using a bilingual approach. This is usually accomplished by non-graded grouping and individualized instruction. The hiring of bilingual teachers and teacher aides for the younger children gives additional impetus to the program.

The curriculum of instruction also includes activities which develop academic, motor and social skills. Educational activities which indicate individual interests and abilities and which initiate individual responsibilities are encouraged. Art, drama, music, social science, recreation, physical education, field trips, mathematics, and creative projects are among the other components of the instructional program.

Migrant students in the higher grades are allowed to explore activities which might give direction to their vocational interests or professional aspirations. Some Wisconsin schools participating in the Migrant Education Program have provided courses in such subject areas as typing, home economics, auto-mechanics, leather crafts, woodwork and art.

Transportation, meals and medical care are among the supportive services provided by all Wisconsin Title I Migrant Education Programs. Health-related services routinely provided include physical examinations, dental and medical treatment, hearing and vision screening and health education.

The types of services provided by local migrant education programs are generally the same; however, there may be slight variations from school to school. The following schools and school districts should be contacted for details and for further information concerning eligibility requirements, ages of children accepted, etc.:

The Wisconsin State Employment Service is the prime contractor or sponsor of the National Migrant Worker Program in Wisconsin. It is responsible for overall supervision of the Project, exclusive of the educational component which is supervised by the Wisconsin Board of Vocational, Technical and Adult Education.

WSES certifies all migrant applicants as eligible for training, makes referrals to United Migrant Opportunity Services intake staff, provides orientation to UMOS staff, furnishes job market information to the UMOS job development team and helps develop job openings in cooperation with UMOS staff. The Wisconsin State Employment Service also participates with UMOS in planning and developing arrangements with other agencies to fulfill all National Migrant Worker Program contractual obligations.

The Wisconsin State Employment Service is also involved in the interstate recruitment of workers for food processing and agricultural work. Through its Rural Manpower Offices at Beaver Dam (Dodge County) and Wautoma (Waushara County), the WSES Migrant Services Division also provides some supportive services to migrant farmworkers.

LABOR CAMPS

Wisconsin Department of Industry, Labor and Human Relations
Industrial Safety and Building Division-Migrant Housing
201 E. Washington Avenue
Madison, Wisconsin 53703
(608) 266-3151

This unit is charged with the responsibility for inspecting and licensing migrant labor camps in Wisconsin. Operating permits or licenses are issued to individual labor camps usually for a twelve-month period after an inspection has indicated that such labor camps meet the minimum standards of safety and sanitation under the prevailing rules and regulations. A license may be revoked at any time if a second inspection is failed.

Currently, Wisconsin is enforcing the U.S. Department of Labor, Bureau of Employment Services 620 standards. The Wisconsin Administrative Code, Chapter 49, which covers migrant labor camps, is not being enforced due to the preemption by the Federal government of those areas covered by the Occupational Safety and Health Act. As soon as the O.S.H.A. 18B plan is approved, Wisconsin will enforce those federal standards in effect.

All registered and certified migrant labor camps in Wisconsin have been designated as having certain maximum capacities of individuals who can be housed at such camps according to the prevailing law. The designated capacities depend on the types of living accommodations and are based on the number of square feet allowed per person for each type of accommodation:

single persons (s) - 50 square feet per person family members (f) - 60 square feet per person double bunk arrangement (d) - 40 square feet per person

The capacities for labor camps are listed, whenever possible, for all three types of accommodations. Thus a migrant labor camp whose capacity is listed as (41-f) (49-s) (61-d) indicates that the camp is capable of accommodating 41 family members, 49 single members or 61 persons in double bunks.

During the 1973 housing season, four (4) migrant labor camps were registered and certified to operate in Dane County.

Outreach workers and office staff recruit participants for adult basic education classes and the National Migrant Worker Program. Consumer advice is provided to migrant families. Assistance in relocation, resettlement and the acquisition of housing is also available.

Through the Legal Services Program, law student summer outreach workers inform migrants of their legal rights and provide day to day legal assistance. The program also seeks to insure the compliance of employers with the provisions of all laws and regulations applicable to farm labor. Among these are the Fair Labor Standards Act, the Social Security Act, the Migrant Labor Camp Law, the Workmen's Compensation Law, and others. The program assures access to government benefit programs and attacks any exclusionary or discriminatory provisions in existing laws by filing complaints and lawsuits on behalf of migrants.

Under the Emergency Food and Medical Services Program, migrant families receive assistance in obtaining either food stamps or commodities through the Wisconsin Department of Health and Social Services county offices. The program may also purchase emergency food for those migrant families who are unable to obtain either food stamps or commodities.

This is one of the seven UMOS area offices in Wisconsin. It provides a wide range of services to migrant families year round. Outreach workers and office staff recruit participants for adult basic education classes and the National Migrant Worker Program. Consumer advice is provided to migrant families. Assistance in relocation, resettlement and the acquisition of housing is also available.

Through the Legal Services Program, law student summer outreach workers inform migrants of their legal rights and provide day to day legal assistance. The program also seeks to insure the compliance of employers with the provisions of all laws and regulations applicable to farm labor. Among these are the Fair Labor Standards Act, the Social Security Act, the Migrant Labor Camp Law, the Workmen's Compensation Law and others. The program assures access to government benefit programs and attacks any exclusionary or discriminatory provisions in existing laws by filing complaints and lawsuits on behalf of migrants.

Under the Emergency Food and Medical Services Program, migrant families receive assistance in obtaining either food stamps or commodities through the Wisconsin Department of Health and Social Services county offices. The program may also purchase emergency food for those migrant families who are unable to obtain either food stamps or commodities.

This is the central office for the National Migrant Worker Program. UMOS staff members working directly with the National Migrant Worker Program are located here. The NMWP coordinator, counselor and manpower specialist establish contacts with migrant farmworkers in the tri-county area and work closely with area coordinators in other parts of Wisconsin.

Interested migrants are recruited, screened and selected for participation in the program. Individual vocational and pre-vocational training needs are also determined. Once the trainees have been selected, assistance is provided in the areas of transportation, housing, relocation and resettlement. Additionally, UMOS provides job orientation, counseling, stipends, job placement and follow-up services for all trainees. During the training period at nearby Gateway Technical Institute and other schools, the trainees' progress in training is monitored and they receive assistance in preparation for job entry.

All pre-vocational and vocational training programs in which migrant farmworkers are enrolled are designed and implemented according to the individual needs of the participants.

Pre-vocational training provides the migrant trainees with reading, vocabulary and computational skills which are essential for normal progression in a vocational training program. As a trainee masters these skills, he may proceed to a more specialized type of study in the field of his choice. Vocational training in many subject areas is available.

Counseling, guidance and testing services are also provided. Placement services are offered in cooperation with the Wisconsin State Employment service and United Migrant Opportunity Services, Inc. UMOS also provides various types of supportive services to all migrant trainees.

UMOS is a federally funded, private, non profit corporation serving migrant farmworkers in Wisconsin. Since 1965, it has expanded its operations to include thirty-two (32) counties in its service area. To some extent, the administration of the program has been decentralized and based in three multi-county regions of the state whose migrant populations during peak period are significant. Each of the regions has a number of area offices within it.

Consumer participation in the UMOs organization is essentially based in three existing Regional Councils. Each of the Councils is composed of migrant as well as "settled out" migrant farmworkers. The Region Councils assist UMOs staff in designing and implementing programs of assistance. They also submit any recommendations for change that they may deem essential to the program. Each of the three Regional Councils has a voting representation of five on the twenty-member Board of Directors. The remaining five members are elected at large.

This agency provides a variety of services to migrant families through its main office located at 809 W. Greenfield Avenue in Milwaukee, seven area offices and eleven family planning clinics. Additionally, there are a number of educational institutions and state agencies which are cooperating with UMOs in the National Migrant Worker Program.

The National Migrant Worker Program in Wisconsin is sponsored by the Wisconsin State Employment Service and contracted by United Migrant Opportunity Services, Inc. The Wisconsin Board of Vocational, Technical and Adult Education is responsible for designing and implementing prevocational and vocational training programs through its district centers. Each of the three agencies has certain responsibilities in the operation of the program. UMOS recruits, screens, selects, and refers all applicants to the Wisconsin State Employment Service for certification. It also identifies vocational and pre-vocational training needs and provides supportive services to the migrant trainees and their families. Such supportive services include assistance with housing, transportation, relocation and resettlement. Additionally, UMOS provides job orientation, counseling, stipends, job placement and follow-up services for all trainees. UMOS also monitors the trainees' progress in training and assists them in preparation for job entry.

The following educational institutions are participating in the National Migrant Worker Program and serve as the training sites:

1. Fox River Valley Technical Institute
2. Gateway Technical Institute
3. Lake Shore Technical Institute
4. Milwaukee Area Technical College

The Legal Services Program employs law students for summer outreach work. Attorneys are also available to the program on a full time basis. The law students inform migrant farmworkers of their rights under the law and provide day to day legal assistance. The program also seeks to insure the compliance of employers with the provisions of all laws applicable to farm labor. Among these are the Fair Labor Standards Act, the Social Security Act, the Migrant Labor Camp Law, the Workmen's Compensation Law and others. The program assures access to government benefit programs and attacks any exclusionary or discriminatory provisions in existing laws by filing complaints and lawsuits on behalf of migrants.

The Emergency Food and Medical Services Program is implemented by seasonal outreach workers as well as by office staff members. Migrant families receive assistance in obtaining either food stamps or commodities through the Wisconsin Department of Health and Social Services county offices. The program also purchases emergency food for those migrant families who are unable to obtain either food stamps or commodities.

UMOS Family Planning Program staff are stationed at eleven (11) locations in as many counties. There is usually one person assigned to already existing facilities or the facilities of another program. The family planning staff are hired for full-time work; however, due to the amount of outreach work involved, staff members may not always be available at these offices. The outreach staff provide services to migrant families by informing them of regularly scheduled family planning clinics in their area, by one to one health education and counseling encounters and by referrals to physicians' offices or health facilities which have contracted with UMOS to deliver family planning services. Among the services provided by the program are physical examinations, pre-natal and post natal medical care, counseling, health education, referrals and group family planning sessions.

Family Planning Staff are stationed at locations in the following counties:

- |                |                |
|----------------|----------------|
| 1. Columbia    | 7. Milwaukee   |

| 4. Jefferson   | 10. Walworth   |
| 5. Manitowoc   | 11. Washington |
| 6. Marquette   |                |

The Headstart and Day Care Project is open to migrant pre-school children between the ages of 3 and 5 years. Transportation, meals, supervised care and recreation, medical care and a comprehensive educational program are offered.

UMOS day care services are available at only one site which is located in Milwaukee. The center's average daily attendance is fifty and it is open year round between 8:00 a.m. and 4:00 p.m., Monday through Friday. The Center is adjacent to the main office and its address is:

UMOS Day Care, Inc.
809 W. Greenfield Avenue
Milwaukee, Wisconsin 53204
(414) 671-5700

In addition to serving as a day care center and statewide administrative office, the main office in Milwaukee is also one of the eleven family planning clinics operated by UMOs. The Radio Program which broadcasts news and programs of interest to migrant farmworkers is also housed in the main office building.

UMOS area offices are involved in delivering a wide range of services to migrant families in their respective service areas. All services under the Legal Services Program as well as the Emergency Food and Medical Services Program are available. Outreach workers from these offices also recruit participants for Adult Basic Education Classes and the National Migrant Worker Program. Assistance is given to families in the areas of housing, relocation and resettlement. Additionally, consumer advice is also provided.

There are currently seven (7) UMOs area offices in operation year round. Several others have been proposed as follows:

| REGION | AREA OFFICE                               | AREA OFFICE PROPOSED         |

Milwaukee Area Technical College is one of the four Wisconsin educational institutions participating in the National Migrant Worker Program. All pre-vocational and vocational training programs in which migrant farmworkers are enrolled are designed and implemented according to the individual needs of the participants.

Pre-vocational training provides the migrant trainees with reading, vocabulary and computational skills which are essential for normal progression in a vocational training program. As a trainee masters these skills, he may proceed to a more specialized type of study in the field of his choice. Vocational training in many subject areas is available.

Counseling, guidance and testing services are also provided. Placement services are offered in cooperation with the Wisconsin State Employment Service and United Migrant Opportunity Services, Inc. UMOs also provides various types of supportive services to all migrant trainees.

The High School Equivalency Program (HEP) allows migrant and seasonal farm-worker youth between the ages of 18 and 24, who have dropped out of school and who are single, to continue their high school education. This is done by preparing the individual student through individualized classes and tutors. Once the student is sufficiently knowledgeable in the basic subject areas, he may take the General Educational Development (GED) examination. Successful completion of the GED examination leads to a diploma which is equivalent to a high school diploma.

In addition to the educational program, HEP students receive a variety of supportive services while they are with the program. These include counseling, stipends, transportation allowances, health services, room, board, entertainment and recreation. After graduation, placement in college, vocational training or upward mobility jobs is also provided. Follow-up services after placement are part of the program.

La Raza is a non-profit corporation serving minority groups, especially Mexican-Americans, since July 1971. Many of the recipients of services are migrant or settled-out migrant families. To inform and educate, to protect the rights of individuals and to secure needed aid from local agencies are among the goals of La Raza.

In the area of education, La Raza developed and is coordinating tutorial programs in five counties. Approximately seventy-five tutors from the University of Wisconsin-Stevens Point, the University of Wisconsin-Oshkosh and Lawrence University are providing remedial skills to nearly 175 children. La Raza also initiated adult basic education courses with Fox Valley Technical Institute in which approximately thirty Mexican-American adults are participating. Additionally, La Raza is the only non-educational institution in Wisconsin to have developed and implemented a Title I Summer Migrant education program in cooperation with the Wisconsin Department of Public Instruction.

Among its other accomplishments, La Raza has enlisted the services of local attorneys to provide legal aid, has initiated a loan fund with money to be loaned at no interest and has recruited volunteer workers to work in the communities. La Raza publishes a monthly periodical with a circulation of 3,000. This publication carries news items and issues of interest to the Mexican-American population. Over fifteen workshops, many at local universities, have been conducted by La Raza in order to increase public awareness of the problems encountered by Mexican-Americans in Wisconsin.

This is one of the seven UMOS area offices in Wisconsin. It provides a wide range of services to migrant families year round. Outreach workers and office staff recruit participants for adult basic education classes and the National Migrant Worker Program. Consumer advice is provided to migrant families. Assistance in relocation, resettlement and the acquisition of housing is also available.

Through the Legal Services Program, law student summer outreach workers inform migrants of their legal rights and provide day to day legal assistance. The program also seeks to insure the compliance of employers with the provisions of all laws and regulations applicable to farm labor. Among these are the Fair Labor Standards Act, the Social Security Act, the Migrant Labor Camp Law, the Workmen's Compensation Law and others. The program assures access to government benefit programs and attacks any exclusionary or discriminatory provisions in existing laws by filing complaints and lawsuits on behalf of migrants.

Under the Emergency Food and Medical Services Program, migrant families receive assistance in obtaining either food stamps or commodities through the Wisconsin Department of Health and Social Services county offices. The program may also purchase emergency food for those migrant families who are unable to obtain either food stamps or commodities.

This office is also one of the eleven locations where United Migrants for Opportunity, Inc. has stationed staff members for its Family Planning Program. This is one of the seven (7) UMOS area offices in Wisconsin. It provides a wide range of services to migrant families year round. Outreach workers and office staff recruit participants for adult basic education classes and the National Migrant Worker Program. Consumer advice is provided to migrant families. Assistance in relocation, resettlement and the acquisition of housing is also available.

Through the Legal Services Program, law student summer outreach workers inform migrants of their legal rights and provide day to day legal assistance. The program also seeks to insure the compliance of employers with the provisions of all laws and regulations applicable to farm labor. Among these are the Fair Labor Standards Act, the Social Security Act, the Migrant Labor Camp Law, the Workmen's Compensation Law and others. The program assures access to government benefit programs and attacks any exclusionary or discriminatory provisions in existing laws by filing complaints and lawsuits on behalf of migrants.

Under the Emergency Food and Medical Services Program, migrant families receive assistance in obtaining either food stamps or commodities through the Wisconsin Department of Health and Social Services county offices. The program may also purchase emergency food for those migrant families who are unable to obtain either food stamps or commodities.

By means of Spanish-speaking migrant specialists, both employers and migrants are assisted in solving problems of wages, hours, overtime pay, housing, etc. The outreach migrant specialists also make arrangements to provide specific services to migrant families with special problems or refer them to the appropriate local agencies. Additionally, migrant farmworkers are informed of their rights and responsibilities under Federal and State Statutes that pertain to farm labor.

APPENDIX

Governor's Committee on Migrant Labor

The twenty-five member Committee is made up of representatives of migrant farmworkers, growers and the general public. It was created by executive order of the Governor on June 14, 1960 to help coordinate and plan the activities of federal, state and private agencies in improving the status of migratory workers and their families in Wisconsin.

The Committee members meet at regular monthly meetings in order to help resolve or avert any problems that may arise in connection with the presence of migrant farmworkers within the state. After discussing migrant-related concerns, the Committee issues any recommendation it may deem necessary directly to the Governor. This direct link with the Governor's office insures prompt action at the executive level of state government.

The membership of the Governor's Committee on Migratory Labor is as follows:

1. Seven (7) Migrant Representatives
2. Seven (7) Grower Representatives
3. Seven (7) Members at Large
4. Two (2) State Representatives
5. Two (2) State Senators

Among the Congressmen, both political parties are equally represented.

Definitions

The following definitions are extracted from Chapter 235, Section 146.19, Wisconsin Statutes, as they relate to the regulation of migrant labor camps by the Department of Industry, Labor and Human Relations:

MIGRANT

Any person who is authorized to work in the United States, who is not related by blood or marriage to his employer and who occasionally or habitually leaves an established place of residence to travel to another locality to accept seasonal or temporary employment in this state in fruit and vegetable cultivating and harvesting, production work in a food processing plant, nursery, sod or Christmas tree harvesting, where he resides in quarters other than the employer's home during the period of employment.

MIGRANT LABOR CAMP

The site and all structures maintained as living quarters for any seasonal or migrant agricultural, industrial, or construction worker by any person or for him or under his control and supervision, but not including premises occupied by the employer as his own residence. Where an employer employs any such worker, each housing location for such worker shall be considered a migrant labor camp.

Methodology

The information which appears on this report was compiled, analyzed and processed according to a standard research design which was developed by Clearinghouse staff members. This included preliminary research from central information sources, on-site visits, identification of data base and final documentation of information.

PRELIMINARY RESEARCH

Preliminary information on Wisconsin was obtained by first utilizing the library resources of the National Migrant Information Clearinghouse. Numerous mailing lists, annual progress reports, funding proposals, survey reports and statistical summaries were consulted. After the identification of major migrant programs, a verification process was implemented in which these programs were contacted by telephone to verify any items of information that may have been in doubt. The telephone contacts were also very useful in that we were often referred to other agencies or projects which provide services to migrant families and of which we had no prior knowledge. This particular process not only allowed us to request additional information, but it was also very useful in establishing contact with many central sources of information for follow-up at a later date.

ON SITE VISITS

On-Site visits were made to several agencies in an effort to obtain more detailed first-hand information on the nature and types of services available to migrant families throughout Wisconsin. The most current farm labor statistics, including data on wages, migrant population, crops, etc. were also sought. Such visits were limited by time, and generally speaking, were made only to those federal, state, local and private agencies within Wisconsin which were considered central or headquarters offices for other projects or programs. Since United Migrant Opportunity Services, Inc. is the only Title III-B grantee in Wisconsin, and since it is perhaps the largest recipient of federal funds for migrant programs in the State, special emphasis was placed in obtaining information from this agency.

IDENTIFICATION OF DATA BASE

After all preliminary information had been accumulated and verified, and after all on-site visits had been conducted, counties to be included in this book were established according to the following criteria:

1. Existence of a migrant program, or
2. Inclusion in the service area of a migrant program, or
3. Significant (over 100) migrant population during any season.

For purposes of determining what constitutes a "Migrant Program", considerable discussion on the subject was necessary among staff members. This resulted in the following classifications of assistance programs:

1. "Migrant Programs in County" includes any project whose service components are geared solely towards the needs of migrant or seasonal farmworkers.
2. "Other Programs that Provide Services to Migrants" covers agencies which have at least one service component for migrants as part of a larger program.
3. "Agencies Which May Assist Migrants" are service agencies, projects or organizations whose target populations are the poor, the disadvantaged or the minorities. Such agencies very often render services to migrant families if their eligibility requirements are met.

The preceding classifications were established according to certain criteria in order to provide the basis for an orderly presentation of the information to the reader and to avoid a confused, random arrangement of the material. No other meaning should be inferred.

FINAL DOCUMENTATION OF INFORMATION

All information gathered from field visits, correspondence, and research was documented on agency and county profile forms designed and developed specifically for this project. From these profile forms, data was edited and compiled into the resulting report.

Information Sources

1. County Population - Population figures for all counties in Wisconsin are from the official U. S. 1970 Census. This is the source for the latest available statistics on population.
2. County Migrant Population - These figures as well as the estimated maximum length of stay which appears in parenthesis are 1972 estimates. They were obtained from Wisconsin Food Processing and Agriculture, 1972, the annual farm labor report which was prepared by the Rural Manpower Services section of the Wisconsin State Employment Service. The information cited is based on a combination of employment registrations, monthly in-season labor surveys and estimates by WSES staff. 1973 estimates were not available at publication time.
3. Wages - Wage estimates were obtained from the Wisconsin State Employment Service, Rural Manpower Services for the time period from May through August 1973 only. The wages cited are for the crop reporting areas in which the respective counties are located. The Rural Manpower Service's explanation follows:

The attached seasonal hourly wage rates are those paid to agricultural workers by growers and processors reporting to the Rural Manpower Service of the Wisconsin State Employment Service. The state has been divided into five areas for reporting purposes and, with the exception of the Northeast area which is basically the cherry country, should be interpreted as general areas. Slight variations from month-to-month or year-to-year merely represent changes in crop activities or reporting groups. These rates are those paid to adult workers only. Piece rates have not been included in this summary. The low rate and the high rate are simply the lowest and highest rates reported in the area regardless of crop activity. The low rate might be that reported for weeding and blocking lettuce or weeding strawberries and the high rate might be that paid for planting sweet corn or harvesting peas. The most common rate is that paid to the largest number of workers in a given area at a given time, again, regardless of crop activity.

4. Crops, Harvest Season and Other Work Periods - All crop, harvest season and work period information was obtained from a combination of the following four sources:
  - 1973 Wisconsin Agricultural Statistics which was prepared by the Wisconsin Statistical Reporting Service, a cooperative function of both the United States and Wisconsin Departments of Agriculture.
  - Agriculture in the Upper Great Lakes which was published in 1969 by the Economic Research Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture in cooperation with the Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission.
  - Crops Requiring Seasonal Hired Workers by Agricultural Reporting Area, 1966, by the U.S. Department of Labor, Farm Labor Service.
  - Guide to Seasonal Farm Work Areas (Midwest) prepared in 1966 also by the Farm Labor Service.
5. Labor Camps - The migrant labor camps listed are those registered and certified to operate in Wisconsin during most of 1973. This information is dated August 29, 1973 and was provided by the Wisconsin Department of Industry, Labor and Human Relations; Industrial Safety and Building Division; Migrant Housing Section.

6. The following agencies were contacted and provided information about their programs for migrant farmworkers in Wisconsin or related information:

- . Economic Opportunity Bureau
- . High School Equivalency Program

7. Wisconsin Latin Programs and Cooperative Organizations is the source for information on local and private programs other than those under the auspices of the agencies listed above. This directory was published in July 1973 by the Center for Latin America, University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee for the Wisconsin Christian Council on Spanish Speaking Affairs.

MIGRANT PROGRAMS

IN

INTRODUCTION

Ohio is one of the states with the largest influx of interstate migrants, approximately 40,000. The majority of this migrating labor force found employment in the 20 northwestern Ohio counties with labor intensive crops.

In terms of programs designed to aid the migrant worker to forge a decent standard of living, Ohio is among the leaders. Despite these efforts, a good number of migrant and seasonal farmworkers are still afflicted by a variety of ills which generally afflict poor people, but which generally afflict the migrant and seasonal farmworker more severely.

The problems confronting the migrant have been the topic of several documentaries on various media. "Life Is Not Easy", a newspaper article in the Blade Sunday Magazine (October 17, 1971) presents a graphic description of the migrant working in the Ohio fields. The article was written by Louise Allen, Blade Special Writer and excerpts follow:

"From April through November they move northward along the way picking those crops which are ripe, moving to other fields, then finally returning home"...

"From old Mexico they come. Also from the tablelands of Texas and the southern tip of Florida. Men, women, and children with names like Gonzalez, Salazar, Morales, Delgado, Galarza, Casiano. Seasonal visitors who will bend, pick, and dig, to harvest the bounty of the land."

"There has been extensive legislation for their advantage and protection. However, those who guess that all is not perfect have guessed right. For they are linked with a system which, although Spanish in origin, is a slice of the rural America of yesteryear.

"How many of these itinerate harvesters are there? No one really knows. Many wander singly or in groups, independent of a crew leader, and without contacting the offices which compile the census.

"According to information compiled by the state, there are approximately 40,000 migrants registered in 20 counties of northwestern Ohio. This number includes men, women, and children. The largest number is in Sandusky County and the smallest in Hardin County"...

"A procession of cars and pickup trucks moves down the road to a tomato field about two miles from the camp. Already the mist is lifting and the clouds begin to pull away leaving an open sky. The harvesters alight, fan out, and begin to stake out rows.

"The men, most of whom are in their 40s, are dressed in overalls, long loose shirts, and straw hats, a few of the older men have wrapped their knees in towels. But it is their hands that you notice first and longest. They are hands that have followed the sun; hands with nimble fingers trained to race the clock; hands of skilled field laborers.

"The women are all wearing similar outfits: canvas shoes, large straw hats, and long sleeves and long pants to protect their arms and legs from pesticides.

"They are magnificent women who, with shared hopes, strong loyalties, and courage, follow their husbands 'on the season.' Sometimes the older ones reinforce their knees with a section cut from a tire innertube for "la proteccion" as they kneel down on the hard ground"...

"Most migrant workers seem happy and vivacious by nature, but not necessarily because they are satisfied with their lot in life. They are also intensely emotional and given to moods of depression.

"If they sometimes appear reserved, even distant, is that also because of their 'nature?' Perhaps. Or perhaps they have experienced, somewhere, the depths of grassroots resentment against racial minorities"...

"Their attitude toward their work, their purposes in life, are as dissimilar as laborers in any pursuit. They are, however, a proud people who do not ask for charity, and want only to raise their standards of living in the fused Mexican and American tradition." ...

"Pedro Gonzalez frowns as he looks at the sky. 'Maybe it rain real hard today. I hope not. I want to work.' He is expressing the hope of all. For all are seized in the persistent cycle of earning enough to make the long trip north worthwhile; to tide them over when there is no work; to buy a new car; to further the hope of settling down someday. It is the classic migration pursuit of a better life.

"All the workers in the camp are Americans of Mexican descent, whose home base is in Texas. Today their usual early morning 'sunniness' has given way to a restless mood, incited by the uncertain weather, the green tomatoes, and anxiety on the part of those who are in debt to Carlo." ...

"The migrants have spent hours of grueling labor in the scorching sun and the result will be food on a thousand tables. People with names like Gonzalez, Salazar, Morales, Delgado, and Casiano, have broken their fingernails to help get it there and are deserving of a silent 'muchas gracias.' ...

"'Como esta usted', given by migrants of Mexican descent, is unlike any other greeting. They speak it with their lips, their eyes, their uplifted hand. And sometimes with that unspoken communication which transcends words, or syllables, or time and space ... the language of the heart and of the spirit." ...

The purpose of this book is to consolidate under one cover a listing of all services and resources available to migrant farmworkers during their stay in Michigan. The staff of the National Migrant Information Clearinghouse have endeavored to make this directory as complete and as accurate as possible. However, some of the listings or organizations, programs or agencies may contain some obsolete information after the printing date. Although many programs have the stability of long term and established services, others are often short lived or constantly subject to change as new needs, priorities and objectives appear or as operating funds expire.

The information for this directory was obtained entirely from Federal, state and local agencies in Ohio prior to December 1, 1973. Only programs actually in existence at that time have been included, but due to the lag time between gathering information and then publishing it, an effort was made to keep astride all farm labor developments in Ohio during this time. Special emphasis was placed in obtaining only information and data current as of summer 1973. There are several reasons why this was not always possible. Many organizations, particularly state agencies, do not normally summarize their service activities until the end of each calendar year. Still others provided less than full cooperation to Clearinghouse staff, or did not cooperate at all. As a result, some of the information had to be obtained from secondary sources.

"Migrant Programs in Ohio" is, therefore, only as accurate as the information which was provided by the sources contacted. A sincere effort has been made to authenticate as much of the information that appears in this book as possible. However, the limited time and resources available for this project virtually rendered impossible the verification of every item of information.

The Ohio Department of Health offers technical assistance to the migrant health projects in the State of Ohio. Specifically the following five objectives outline this Department's involvement with migrants in Ohio.

1. Organized personal help care services available to migrants in the existing twelve service sites.
2. Organized comprehensive health care services provided at a predetermined cost per person to 100 migrants in each of three counties, Darke, Wood and Huron, and to a selected group of the Spanish-speaking in Ashabula County.
3. Policy Boards as described in the Federal Register, May, 1972, established on a regional basis governing all twelve of the service sites in the state.
4. Cost Accounting system established in the twelve service sites and in the central office of the Ohio Department of Health.
5. Audit conducted of care being given to the twelve service sites.

Through the twelve health centers 10,348 persons received medical care and 19,836 visits were made for such care in the family health service clinics in private physicians' offices and in ambulatory care facilities of hospitals. These figures represent 173 more patients receiving care and 724 more visits made than in the previous year.

Comprehensive health services provided through the care centers included medical and dental care; x-ray and laboratory diagnostic services; dietary counseling; nursing and outreach services; hospitalization; and referrals for continuing care.

Outreach services were provided by health aides who visited families in the camps to explain health and related services, distribute printed clinic schedules, obtain rosters of family members, do selected follow-through of health conditions, and to detect health problems. They transported 636 patients to medical care resources when no other means of transportation were available.

In-patient care was arranged through written agreements with hospitals. All agreements were renegotiated this year with the Ohio Department of Health. Each of the projects could use any of the 31 hospitals with which agreements existed. During this reporting period, 658 migrants were known to have been hospitalized for 2,993 days. There were 244 newborns. The number of patients hospitalized this year was 165 more than the number known to have been hospitalized last year.

Migrants Are Visibly Represented in the Governor's Migrant Affairs Committee

GOVERNOR'S MIGRANT AFFAIRS COMMITTEE

The following Executive Order was issued by Governor John J. Gulligan of Ohio on March 19, 1973, creating a Governor's Migrant Affairs Committee. (Note: version has been edited):

STATE OF OHIO

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT

OFFICE OF THE GOVERNOR

EXECUTIVE ORDER

WHEREAS, the importance of migrant farm workers to the agricultural industry of Ohio in the planting, cultivating, harvesting and processing of farm goods is fully recognized; and,

WHEREAS, in many instances, migratory farm workers have been unable to secure for themselves and their families decent and generally acceptable living standards; and,

WHEREAS, technological advances in the agricultural industry have resulted in large numbers of farm workers leaving the migrant stream to "settle out" and establish permanent residence in this state and consequently to encounter serious economic and social deprivations; and,

WHEREAS, community leadership must be exercised to improve the economic and social welfare of active migrant farm workers and those migrant farm workers wishing to settle out in Ohio; and,

WHEREAS, it is essential to develop cooperative relationships among the active migrant farm workers and those who settle out with all interests in the Ohio communities involved; and,

WHEREAS, the objectives stated in an Executive Order dated October 21, 1965, designating the Director of the Department of Industrial Relations as Executive Secretary of the Governor's Committee on Migrant Labor may be better implemented through certain reorganizational steps;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, JOHN J. GILLIGAN, Governor of the State of Ohio, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and the statutes of this state, do hereby order and direct that:

The members of the Committee shall serve without compensation except that they shall be compensated for their reasonable expenses incurred in the discharge of their duties.

2. The Committee shall have the following duties and powers:
  - A. To provide a forum in which public opinion may be expressed in full debate so that through a broader understanding of the socio-economic problems of the migrant farm worker and his employers, we in Ohio may unite to create a society in which employers and employees alike may live with dignity and mutual respect.
  - B. To keep the Governor informed of the activities and recommendations of the Committee.
  - C. To study the conditions under which the migrant farm worker and those who wish to settle out live and to identify the problems which are not being adequately met.
  - D. To develop cooperative relationships between state and local agencies concerned with migrant affairs and alert them to the special problems of migrant farm workers and those who wish to settle out, in order to stimulate more effective services.
  - E. To promote better understanding and better communications between active migrant farm workers and those who settle out with growers and processors, industry and labor representatives, and all other interests in the communities involved.

the active migrant farm worker and those wishing to settle out are rigorously enforced and effectively administered.

- G. To recommend corrective legislation where such action is indicated.
- H. To recommend and support appropriate applications for federal grant assistance.
- I. To create subcommittees to examine specific problem areas related to active migrant farm workers or those who settle out.

OHIO LAWS RELEVANT TO FARM LABOR

The following synopsis and application of state and federal laws relevant to migrant and seasonal farmworkers was prepared by the Ohio Migrant Legal Action Program as a public service.

Please note that the laws herein referred to are effective as of June 1, 1973, and may be changed in the future.

1. SOCIAL SECURITY

Social Security benefits include payments to:

- a. Retired workers over 62 years of age,
- b. Disabled workers under 65 years of age,
- c. Workers' widows,
- d. Surviving children.

Before becoming eligible for these benefits, workers must have a certain amount of work credited by the Social Security Administration. These work credits are accumulated while the worker is working and his employer is sending a certain percentage of his wages to the Social Security Administration.

Important

Agricultural workers who work 20 days or more in any year and are paid on a time basis or who earn $150.00 or more from the same employer are covered by the Social Security Act. This means that your employer, whether he be a grower or crewleader, must, under the law, send a certain percentage of your total salary to the Social Security Administration. Starting in 1973 this percentage is 11.70%. Half of this, or 5.85% may be deducted from your salary. In other words, for every $100 that you earn, after you are covered, your employer must send $11.70 to the Social Security Administration. He may deduct a maximum of $5.85 from your pay so that your take home pay would be $94.15 for every $100.00 earned.

The first thing you must do when you are hired is to give your employer your Social Security number. Remember that your employer must send 11.70% of your salary as soon as you have worked 20 days on a time rate basis or have earned $150.00 on a piece rate basis.

If you do not believe that your employer is sending this money, get in touch with the local Social Security Administration office listed in the phone book. They will also be able to answer any questions you may have.

2. INCOME TAX

The Internal Revenue Service places great confidence on citizens and residents of this country. It is a voluntary and self determining system in which the taxpayer has the responsibility to determine if he is obligated to declare his income and if he is owing income tax to the government. The Taxpayer is the one who must calculate the amount of taxes he must pay at the end of the year unless he decides to allow the Internal Revenue Service to calculate the tax for him.

He then must either pay the taxes he owes or claim a refund. A refund is due usually when the employer deducts more than the taxpayer owes during his term of employment. The taxpayer must declare his income and claim a refund in order for him to receive that refund.

Single persons must declare their income if it exceeded $2,050 during the past year.

Married persons filing a separate return must declare their income if they earned more than $750 during the past year.

Married persons filing jointly must declare their income if their combined income exceeded $2,800 during the past year. If either of them was 65 years or older during the year, they must declare their income if the combined income exceeded $3,550. If both persons were 65 years old during the past year, they must declare their income if the combined income exceeded $4,300.

Persons entitled to a refund must file an income tax declaration in order to receive the refund even if they are not required to declare their incomes.

An employer who hires agricultural workers is not obligated to make income tax withholding. The only way he may withhold your wages for income tax is with your permission.

Important

It is important for you to declare your annual income because quite often your employer may have withheld your income tax and you may be entitled to a refund. If your employer has withheld income taxes from your wages, he is required by law to send you a W-2 form at the end of the year. This form will tell you the total amount of wages you earned from that employer and the amount of deductions he made, not only for income tax but for Social Security. This form must be sent along with your income tax forms when you declare your income.

The necessary forms required to declare your income may be obtained at any post office, bank or Internal Revenue Office between January and April.

If you are required to declare your income or wish to declare your income in order to request a refund, your forms must be sent by April 15th of each year.

3. WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION

The State of Ohio is obligated to pay all hospital bills, doctor bills, and must compensate you for all lost time from your work because of an accident and/or permanent injuries.

This benefit only covers accidents which occur on the job or because of the job and only if your employer has three or more employees. It does not matter how the accident happened or who was at fault as long as it happened on the job.

Your employer, whether he is a grower or crewleader, is obligated to send a certain amount of money to the state for each employee he has if he employs more than three. This amount cannot be deducted from your wages.

If you need assistance, wish to file a claim, or have any questions concerning this benefit, contact the Ohio Bureau of Employment Services or any Farm Labor office in your county.

4. MEDICAL SERVICES

a. Migrant clinics - The Ohio Department of Public Health offers medical services which include:

1. Health education
2. Nutrition
3. Pharmaceutical treatment
4. Dental care
5. Medical clinics for the family
6. Hospitalization
7. Medicine and drugs
8. Home care

Important

The best way to insure that you will receive assistance in the cost of hospitalization is to contact a clinic first.

b. Public Assistance from the Ohio Department of Welfare - Each county welfare agency where you reside is obligated to assist you if you cannot afford to pay any or all of your medical bills.

If you receive any unexpected medical bills or receive emergency medical care and are unable to afford the bills, contact the Welfare Department in your County and request "General Relief" assistance.

If you are denied assistance and you still feel you are entitled, you may request a fair hearing. (See the "fair hearing" section in this pamphlet for a full discussion of this right.)

- c. Hill-Burton Act - Many hospitals which receive federal funds for the construction of its facilities are obligated to offer medical assistance and hospitalization to persons unable to pay for them.

Important

Remember to find out when you are registering at the hospital if the hospital is covered by this Federal Act. If the hospital is covered, you should inform them that you are unable to pay the bill and wish to be admitted as a "Hill-Burton" patient.

5. MINIMUM WAGE

If your employer, whether he is a grower or crewleader, hired sufficient workers during the past year to be covered under the Fair Labor Standards Act, the minimum wage he must pay to agricultural workers is $1.30 per hour. This minimum amount must be paid regardless of the manner in which your wage is calculated. For this reason it is important to keep a record of the hours you and each member of your family worked.

Workers in a factory or processing plant are entitled to $1.60 per hour.

The Federal Government is presently working on a new law that will increase the $1.30 and $1.60 figures. These increases will become effective as soon as the new law is passed by Congress.

- If you work in certain operations involving cultivating or processing sugar beets and if your wages are calculated on an hourly basis, you are entitled to a minimum of $2.15 per hour. If you are paid on a piece rate (per acre, per row, etc.) the minimum wage depends upon the type of operation you are performing.

HAND LABOR OPERATIONS, ROWS 20 TO 27 INCHES WIDE

RATE PER ACRE

- |  |         |
|--|---------|
| (A) Thinning-removing excess beets with hoe only . . . . .   | $15.50 |
| (B) Hoeing-removing weeds and excess beets with a hoe only . . . . .   | 20.00   |
| (C) Hoe trimming-removing weeds with a hoe and by hand and removing excess beets with a hoe only. . . . .  | 24.00   |
| (D) Weeding-removing weeds with a hoe and by hand following either (A), (B), or (C) above, or following operation specified in (E) below . . . . .                   | 13.00   |
| (E) Removing weeds with a hoe only as the first operation in fields that have been completely machine-thinned and treated with herbicides for weed control . . . . . | 13.00   |

For workers 14 and 15 years of age, the hourly rate may be reduced by not more than 15%. The piece rates may vary according to the width of the rows, by employing the following formula:

HAND LABOR OPERATIONS, WIDE, OR NARROW ROWS

WIDE-ROW (INCHES)

MAXIMUM REDUCTION

|              |            |
|--------------|------------|
| 28, 29 or 30 | 20 percent |
| 31, 32 or 33 | 25 percent |
| 34 or more   | 30 percent |

NARROW-ROW (INCHES)

MINIMUM INCREASES

|              |            |
|--------------|------------|
| 17, 18 or 19 | 25 percent |
| 16 or less   | 35 percent |

Remember - A rate of $2.15 per hour must be paid as a minimum hourly earnings guarantee for harvesting or other hand labor operations not described above which are done either as piecework basis or on an hourly basis. The guaranteed minimum wages covers the whole time the workers are employed on the farm for the operations. The $2.15 per hour rate only applies to work connected with sugar beets.

If you have any questions or wish to file a claim for unpaid wages, contact your county "Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service" if the matter relates to sugar beets.

For questions or claims arising under the Fair Labor Standards Act, contact the Department of Labor or seek assistance from your local Rural Manpower Service.

6. FOOD STAMPS - Every county welfare department in Ohio offers the food stamp program. If you feel you qualify for the program, you may make an application for them at the county welfare department.

The amount of food stamps that you are entitled to and the amount you must pay for them depends on the number of persons in your household and your total household income.

If the size of your family is:

Then you may be eligible if your (After July 1, 1973)
monthly income is less than:
(Prior to July 1, 1973)

|                            |          |          |
|----------------------------|----------|----------|
| 1                          | $170.00 | $183.00 |
| 2                          | 222.00   | 240.00   |
| 3                          | 293.00   | 313.00   |
| 4                          | 360.00   | 387.00   |
| 5                          | 421.00   | 460.00   |
| 6                          | 493.00   | 533.00   |
| 7                          | 541.00   | 600.00   |
| 8                          | 600.00   | 667.00   |
| Each additional member add | 53.00    | 53.00    |

Remember - you have a right to these stamps if you are eligible and may request a fair hearing if you do not feel you have been treated fairly. The welfare department is obligated to assist you in making the application, in answering any questions you may have, and to refer you to legal assistance organizations should you wish legal advice. (See the "Fair Hearing" section in this pamphlet for a full discussion of this right.)

When you move from one county to another or from this state to another, you should report this to the Welfare agency. They will give you a card which you may present to the next welfare department. If the size of your household has not changed this card will entitle you to continue receiving the same amount of food stamps for 60 days even though your income has increased.

7. CHILD LABOR - Children under the age of 14 are not permitted to work. Children under the age of 16 may not work at hazardous jobs (with pesticides, farm machinery, etc.).

While school is in session, children under the age of 18 must obtain a work permit from the principal of the school in their area. They then may work before school, after school, or on weekends so long as the total numbers of hours of school and work do not exceed nine hours in any one day period.

If you have any questions concerning child labor or work permits, contact the Ohio Bureau of Employment Services or the Rural Manpower Service in your county.

8. DRIVERS LICENSES - If your car plates are from another state and your permanent address is in another state, it is not necessary for you to obtain a driver's license in the State of Ohio as long as you have one from your home state.

If you wish to obtain an Ohio drivers license, contact the State Highway Patrol for the closest driver's examination station. You will be required to show proof of your age and pay a fee of $4.50 after you pass the examination.

The examination consists of three parts. The first tests your eye sight. The second part tests your knowledge of the highway safety laws and the third part tests your driving ability. The state is obligated to provide you with a study manual in either English or Spanish which will acquaint you with the highway laws.

The examination must be given to you in either English or Spanish and orally if you are unable to read.

9. HOUSING CONDITIONS - Our laws require that all migrant houses pass certain minimum standards. These laws are for the benefit of the migrant worker and his family.

If you believe your housing is in such a state that the health and well-being of your family is being affected, contact your local Department of Health.

Your employer or landlord may not take any retaliatory action against you for notifying your government of violations of your rights.

While you are living in a house in which you pay rent or which is part of your work, the owner does not have the right to prevent the entrance of any guest you may wish to have in your home. Your rights, while you are living in this house are similar to those which you would have if it were your own home. But remember that you may be held accountable for any damages which you cause.

10. EDUCATION - The state is obligated to enroll your children in their schools. This includes transportation, health services and any other services offered.

During the summer months, many schools have a "head start" program for pre-school aged children.

Remember, during the school year, minors must attend classes while they are in session.

Whenever you move from one school district to another, be sure that your children's school records are transferred so that they receive credit for their work.

11. LEGAL AID - the federal government and other sources fund many legal aid projects. These services are provided to help any person unable to afford an attorney.

- a. Legal Aid Societies - In many areas "Legal Aid Societies" will be able to assist you with most legal problems you might have. Call information for the number of the closest office, or ask a judge how to reach an attorney through the local bar association.
- b. Public Defenders - Every citizen is entitled to speak and be represented by an attorney before being incarcerated by any judge. The State is obligated to provide you with an attorney without cost to you if you are unable to afford one before you are tried or sentenced in any case involving a possible jail sentence.
- c. Ohio Migrant Legal Action Program (OMLAP) - This program specializes in legal problems of the migrant or persons who were migrants not more than one year ago. If you have any problems or questions about the benefits outlined in this pamphlet, contact the nearest office or call them "collect". This service is funded by the federal government and is free.

12. FAIR HEARINGS - Whenever you apply for welfare benefits or food stamps and are not satisfied with the manner your application is handled or with the amount of assistance you receive, you are entitled to request a fair hearing. If you are presently receiving benefits under the welfare or food stamp programs and the welfare agency has informed you that your benefits will be terminated, suspended, or curtailed, you are entitled to a fair hearing.

A fair hearing is a conference between yourself, the county welfare department, and a representative from the state welfare department. You may represent yourself or have an attorney or anyone else you choose to represent you. You do not have to be present at the hearing so long as someone is representing you.

Whenever you request a hearing, the county welfare department must assist you in filling out the necessary request form. You or your representative will be notified as to the time and place of the hearing. A final decision of your hearing must be given to you within 60 days of your request for a hearing.

If you are presently receiving benefits and you request a hearing, your benefits cannot be terminated, suspended, or curtailed until a decision has been reached on your hearing.

Remember - You have a right to request a hearing anytime you feel you have been treated unfairly by the welfare agency.

13. RURAL MANPOWER SERVICE - The Rural Manpower Service is a federally funded program instituted for the primary purpose of placing job applicants with employers.

Whenever you need a job, the Rural Manpower Service is obligated to assist you in locating a job. They may not discriminate against you in any manner and must provide you with the same service they give to everyone else.

If the Rural Manpower Service has obtained a job for you, the terms of employment must be given to you. In other words, they must tell you what the wages will be, what the housing will be like, what if any deductions will be made from your wages, and any other conditions of employment.

The employer to whom you are referred must conform to all the requirements of federal law as well as state law. This includes federal minimum wages, housing conditions, etc.

If you have any complaint concerning your employment contact the nearest Rural Manpower Office.

14. IMMIGRATION - People who have come from Spanish America to the United States and work for long periods of time must get permission to stay in the U.S. from the Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS).

Usually when someone is in the U.S. illegally (because their visa has run out or because they didn't have a visa or because they are working while holding a visitor's visa) the INS gives the person a month to leave voluntarily. If he does not, he will be arrested, a hearing will be held by INS, and he will be deported.

If you are not a United States citizen, how can you go about getting permission to stay in the United States? If you are a doctor or physicist, it's almost easy. But if you work with your hands, it's harder. This summary is for people who are not doctors, and who want to stay in the United States on a permanent basis.

First, if you are single and have no parents or children who are United States citizens, you are subject to the quota. This means that only a certain number of visas are given out each year, and you must register as an intending immigrant with the consulate nearest which you lived when you were living outside the United States to get a priority date which will place you on a waiting list to be issued a visa.

The time that people usually have to wait is 16 to 18 months.

You also are under a requirement that the department of labor must certify you for a job before you will get your visa. This means that not only do you have to have a job when you enter the United States, but that job must be one which the United States Department of Labor thinks that no one in the United States is able to do (you can't take a job that someone already in the United States can do).

This requirement is very hard to fulfill. However, if you have children who are United States citizens you are not required to have a job certified by the Department of Labor, but you do have to register as an intending immigrant. If you are married to a United States citizen or permanent resident, or if your parent is a United States citizen (and you haven't yet married), or if you have a child who is a United States citizen who is over 21 years old, your relative may petition INS for recognition of your status as the immediate relative of a United States citizen or permanent resident, which will exempt you from the requirements of labor certification and the quota.

A United States citizen may petition the Immigration and Naturalization Service for a spouse, unmarried child or parent (if citizen child is 21 years or over) born in any independent foreign country of the Western Hemisphere. Form I-130 is the form for this. It should be submitted with the following:

For Spouse . . . proof of marriage, proof of citizenship, proof of termination of previous marriages for both parties (if applicable).

For child . . . (unmarried) marriage certificate of parents, child's birth certificate and proof of termination of previous marriages of either parent (if applicable).

For parents . . . child's birth certificate showing parents' names when applying for mother; marriage certificate of parents if petition is for father.

If petitioner is a married woman, the marriage certificate must accompany the petition to show name change.

A permanent resident alien may petition for a spouse, or unmarried child under 21 years of age. This is done with the form I-550, verification of last entry of alien. Submit this to the Immigration and Naturalization Service nearest you with instructions for information to be forwarded to the consulate nearest the home of the relative. Upon receipt of the I-550, the United States Consul will send a letter of instruction to the beneficiary and the proceedings are handled through the Consular Office.

When the beneficiary is in the United States, the Consular Office will follow the same procedure and will require the beneficiary to go to the nearest Consul's office for an interview (usually Toronto, Canada). Western Hemisphere applicants must obtain their visas OUTSIDE the United States. You should request that the form be sent to the Consulate General's post in Toronto, Canada, unless you want to apply through a consular post in the country from which you are a national. The four steps required for visa completion are:

Filing forms DSP-70 - Biographic data sheet.

Filing forms FS -497 - Preliminary questionnaire to determine immigrant status.
DSL-869 - Form letter regarding documents which must be obtained.
FS -510 - Application for immigrant visa and alien registration.

These forms are mailed to you from the office of the United States Consul and will be sent upon receipt of approved I-130 or I-550. Instructions are provided and must be carried out completely for the sake of expediting the procedure for visa. One mistake or incomplete form will hold back the progress in the case for months. When in doubt about any part of the procedure, it is best to call someone who knows about the forms, or the Consul's office for clarification. Make copies of everything you send to the Consul in case of loss or the misplacement of documents and forms. The priority date for the visa is the date of approval of the petition.

Again, persons not listed in the above categories must file under labor certification in order to qualify for a visa to the United States. This means that the person must have a profession (degree from a university) or a skill that is in short supply in the United States. This is to insure that the alien will not take a job away from an American. Presently, the labor situation is serious and there is little chance of having the Labor Department approve skilled workers. In the professional field, the medical profession has top priority for approvals. Check with your local office of the Department of Labor for certification possibilities.

METHODOLOGY

The information which appears on this report was compiled, analyzed and processed according to a standard research design which was developed by Clearinghouse staff members. This included preliminary research from central information sources, on-site visits, identification of data base and final documentation of information.

PRELIMINARY RESEARCH. Preliminary information on Ohio was obtained by first utilizing the library resources of the National Migrant Information Clearinghouse. Numerous mailing lists, annual reports and funding proposals were consulted. After the identification of major migrant programs, a verification process was implemented in which these programs were contacted by phone in order to verify any items of information that may have been in doubt. The telephone contacts were also very useful in that we were often referred to other agencies or projects of which we had no prior knowledge. This particular process allowed us to make initial contact with many central sources of information for follow-up at a later date.

ON-SITE VISITS. On-site visits were made to numerous agencies in an effort to obtain detailed first hand information on the nature and types of services available to migrant farmworkers throughout Ohio. The most current farm labor statistics and data on wages, migrant population, crops, legislation, etc. were also sought. Such visits were limited by time, and generally speaking, were made only to those Federal, State and local agencies within Ohio which were considered central or headquarters offices for other projects or programs.

IDENTIFICATION OF DATA BASE. After all preliminary information had been accumulated and verified, and after all on-site visits had been conducted, counties to be included in the book were established according to the following criteria:

1. Existence of a migrant program, or
2. Inclusion in the service area of a migrant program, or
3. Significant (over 100) migrant population during any season.

For purposes of determining what constitutes a "migrant program", considerable discussion on the subject was necessary among staff members. This resulted in the following classifications of assistance programs which appear in the book:

1. "Migrant Programs in County" include any project whose service components are geared solely towards the needs of migrant or seasonal farmworkers. (e.g. Raza Unida de Ohio)
2. "Other Programs that Provide Services to Migrants" covers agencies which have at least one service component for migrants as part of a much larger program.
3. "Agencies Which May Assist Migrants" are service agencies, projects or organizations whose target populations are the poor, the disadvantaged, and the minorities. Such agencies generally have no special provisions for providing services to migrant families, but often render services if the eligibility requirements are met.

The purpose for resorting to the above classifications of programs was not to subjectively brand programs according to what they do or do not do, but rather to provide the basis for an orderly presentation of the information to the reader and to avoid a confused random arrangement of the material.

FINAL DOCUMENTATION OF INFORMATION. All information gathered from field visits, correspondence, and research was documented on agency and county profile forms designed and developed specifically for this project. From these profile forms, data was edited and compiled into the resulting report.
